No.

You can't catch a disease from some other disease. They are 2 completely different things.

No. You can only get a s.t.d. (ghonorreha is a s.t.d), from sexual contact with someone who has it. I do remember from h.s. health class that some s.t.d.'s start out as what seems to be a yeast infection, so if you've had any sort of unprotected sex or other sexual contact with someone you think might be infected, get it checked out right away.
